

Sustainable-lighting company Greenled has helped the Cornish town of Redruth to shed a little light on its history. The firm has designed and installed an innovative lighting renovation scheme that illuminates the exteriors of the town's historical and architecturally significant buildings using LEDs.